

Welcome to Data 58

Hello

Despite all of the political and economic uncertainty, our first half of the year has been buoyant, with various projects being successfully delivered and a healthy workload going forward and there are a lot of exciting opportunities in the pipeline.

It seems the market overall is still optimistic about the medium and long term business opportunities.

We have recently completed work at the iconic London Coliseum, home to the English National Opera in Covent Garden and are nearing completion of our latest project at The Grove Hotel in Watford — where we have carried out a number of high quality projects over the years.

Currently, we are on site fitting out luxury hospitality lounges at both Lords and The Oval cricket grounds, ahead of this year's ashes series.

We hope to bring you photographs and more information of both projects in our next newsletter.

Over the last few years we have become established as the specialist company in the UK for fitting-out high quality jewellery stores. Across the UK, projects like The Jewellery Room at Fortnum & Mason, Mevaris in Burlington Arcade, Beaverbrooks, Brown & Newirth, along with large scale and prestigious projects for independent jewellers including Wakefields of Horsham, Brufords Eastbourne and Winsor Bishop Cambridge, as well as fitting out several boutique, flagship and outlet stores for Welsh gold retailer Clogau.

In this issue I have included a link to a short video that showcases a selection of projects in the retail jewellery sector. A link is also below to a feature in Retail Focus on the Wakefields project in Horsham, including my Q&A session with about Datum's role.

As always, I would be delighted to discuss your forthcoming projects, whether you're looking for shopfitters, bespoke joinery or metalwork.

Kind regards

Premier Retail feature on Wakefields

See the full feature here

First established in 1911, Wakefields is a fourth-generation, independent family jewellers that has been at the heart of the retail community in the West Sussex market town of Horsham for 110 years.

Their thriving business combines fine gemstones and bespoke jewellery, as well as an impressive collection of iconic watch brands, such as Rolex and Tudor.

London-based retail design consultancy, Innovare, was appointed to completely re-design the existing Wakefields store, which incorporates an expanded Rolex showroom, a luxurious new bar and multiple viewing rooms for bridal, fine and bespoke jewellery design.
